

Please give 1-2 takes on 1 mp3 file. NO SLATES PLEASE. Thanks!

Male. 35-45. Looking for an actor with an authentic, SUBTLE New York City accent/sensibility who is able to enunciate quickly with clarity. He's got a strong, everyday, approachable voice. You can tell he's from New York but it's NOT an over-the-top Joe Pesci/Jersey shore accent. Nothing obnoxious at all. The delivery should be conversational, relaxed and off-the-cuff. Nothing slick, polished or announcer-y at all and NO CHARACTERY accents please.

Please click on the reference video below for the overall vibe we're going for:

Take Out to Help Out :30

SFX: sounds of the city and restaurants as we cut from place to place

VO: New York restaurants are special.

The pizza joint downtown where the owner has been kneading dough every morning for 30 years.

That Korean food truck that knows your order by heart, in English and Korean.

Your favorite pub in the tri-state that always stocks Coke Zero Sugar, just for you.

And we can't forget the neighborhood deli that knows, you and pickles - yeah, never gonna happen.

We all have that spot that we love and that loves us back.

And those restaurants need our support.

They need us to keep all those special experiences going.

So, take out to help out - from a place that's close to your heart.
