BATMAN THE DAWNBREAKER

When I stood there helpless, as my mom and dad's blood was running into the gutter? I felt...nothing. Like the sky and the ground broke apart and all that was left was a void as big as everything. And that void was inside me. I didn't feel anything. Not even fear.

Still, I felt the same. Can you imagine? The most powerful weapon on my finger... and still I felt vulnerable. Helpless. I missed them. I couldn't take it anymore. I didn't want to be Bruce Wayne. I didn't want to be Green Lantern. Standing in front of a lantern... but feeling submerged in shadow. Like I never left the cave under my mom and dad's house, with the darkness, and the bats.
