“Don't be so attached to who you are in the present,
that you don't give the future version of you a chance.”

Growth Mindset

Fixed mindset.

Growth mindset.

Let's experience this.

You're working on a feature that's really important to you and your team. After days of effort, you finally submit your pull request. You're excited — until the code review comes back with a lot of requested changes.

Later that day, you realise a key part of your implementation conflicts with another teammate's recent changes, forcing you to rethink your approach.

As you're dealing with the stress, you message a teammate for help. They respond curtly, seeming too busy to assist you.

You can learn.

Dr. Carol Dweck

What would you think?

A few answers from the fixed mindset

My life is pitiful.”

Somebody upstairs
doesn't like me.”

What would you think?

Answer from the Growth mindset

I need to review the feedback carefully, improve my code, and be more mindful of how my changes integrate with the team's work. My teammate might just be having a stressful day."

What can we learn?

01.

You can grow.

02.

Normalise
failure.

03.

Effort leads to success.

Recap:

Your mindset, changes your view of the world

One world.

The other world.

Mindsets are just beliefs.

Beliefs *can be changed.

Where would you like to *go?

And what mindset can take you *there?

Thank

you :)
